Tiffany Taylor Named As THRC Title VI Compliance Director

Tiffany Taylor of Nashville has been named as the Tennessee Human Rights Commission's new Title VI Compliance Director.

In her new role, Taylor will be responsible for developing policy and providing guidance to ensure the state's present and future compliance with federal Title VI requirements. She will participate in monitoring and coordinating enforcement procedures in the federal and state statutes, rules, regulations, programs, services, and budgetary practices. She will also supervise the preparation of records and reports of Title VI compliance efforts and outcomes for each executive branch department and agency including periodic audits, reviews and evaluations.

Taylor, a native of Memphis, previously served as Deputy Director of the Department of Safety and Homeland Security Driver Services Division. She has an extensive background in state government and served on the Nashville Multi-Cultural Title VI Committee.

She received a Master of Public Administration degree from Tennessee State University and completed the Tennessee Government Executive Institute with the University of Tennessee-Knoxville.

The THRC is an independent state agency responsible for enforcing the Tennessee Human Rights Act and the Tennessee Disability Act which prohibits discrimination based on race, color, national origin, gender, age (40 and over), creed, religion, disability and retaliation in housing, employment and public accommodations. To report discrimination or to receive additional information about the agency, please call 1-800-251-3589 or visit the website.
